

Fouad Takla Company

Building for a Better Syria Since 1963

Fouad Takla Company currently operates in three interlinked sectors, Construction Services, Construction Products and Property Development. It is the largest privately owned construction firm in the Syrian Arab Republic, with offices throughout Syria, Lebanon, Qatar, and the United Arab Emirates.

Led by its Founding Chairman, Fouad Naim Takla, the business has grown strongly over the last four decades and has thrived through a number of different property and economic cycles. Driven by a vision of "Building for a Better Syria", the company's managing partners are also building on the company name in order to secure its position as a market leader for many years to come.

Fouad Takla Company specialises in delivering ambitious yet achievable construction projects that satisfy both clients and the communities who use them every day. The company in association with its affiliate "Weavers Group" is responsible for some of the largest construction projects in the Middle East and United Kingdom.

Fouad Takla's strong track record has given it an established brand with a reputation for quality, innovation and the successful delivery of major projects, particularly large commercial, residential, touristic and specialist design and construction projects.
