

relationship through these exchange programs." He called upon the visiting participants to interact with Saudis to get first-hand information about Saudi society and to observe everything with an open mind. "So when you go back to your country you have a different perception about us."

The British Ambassador Sir William Patey, while addressing the final session of the forum, said this was an important event promoting greater understanding between young men and women from the UK and Saudi Arabia. Sir William said that the forum could be rightly said to be part of the broader inter-cultural dialogue initiated by Custodian of the Two Holy Mosques King Abdullah and was one of a number of ongoing initiatives between the two countries.

The projects developed by the Youth Forum will be presented to the next Two Kingdoms Dialogue that is due to be held in the Kingdom later this year.

