

News seems to have travelled fast!

Forward Logistics have arrived in Saudi Arabia.

So what is VAS and how does it affect you? Well the answer is simple, Value Added Service. For the same price, or less, you receive a top level service.

After just one year customers seem to have either heard about Forward Logistics or have been recommended to the services by friends and business acquaintances. When Forward Logistics moved into the Kingdom the expectation was to take two years to get established. With the response from British run business and individuals, Forward Logistics are already expanding much sooner than anticipated.

With British staff based permanently in the Kingdom at the company's Head Office in Riyadh, both the commercial sector and private individuals are finding the accessibility to English speaking staff refreshing to say the least. Being able to find out exactly what is happening with shipments by making one call is a unique selling point!

"Hi Graham, Thought I would drop you a little note to say thank you for the service supplied by your office both here and in the UK. Being able to arrange everything from the boxes to the delivery at a time that suited us was great. A first class service with a very personal touch both here and in the UK made my wife's move into the Kingdom hassle free. Thank you once again for all your help".

Mr. Keith Newbery, Project Manager for Quadrant Security Group (QSG) Saudi Arabia moving personal effects into KSA.

With shipments often getting "stuck" in ports across the Kingdom, the advantage of having a British forwarder who understands the system seems to have improved the delivery time in the majority of cases. Being informed at the outset of all the requirements and documents for a particular type of shipment saves the client the usual Saudi system of going back to the agent each time something new is wanted to get the cargo cleared. As regular importers will know, this can often delay the process not by a couple of days but by a couple of weeks.

Logistics with VAS has arrived

At Forward Logistics, they don't pretend to be able to clear shipments miraculously, however, forward thinking does seem to have sped the process up and average delivery times certainly seem to be coming more in line with those experienced in other parts of the world.

In addition to assisting or quoting for some of the Kingdom's largest businesses, Forward Logistics have also been doing a lot of personal shipments with the cooperation of a major British Airline flying the Saudi Arabian routes, once again, offering a value price for a premium service.

"Hi Graham, Just writing to say thank you and your wonderful staff on a fantastic service. If all things operated within the Kingdom with such efficiency then it would be a much better place."

Mr. Rob Day working for the National Guard Medical Centre, shipping his motorbike back to Ireland.

Forward Logistics, being a family owned business, take pride in looking after each and every customer as if they are the largest company in the world. Shipping a single suitcase or 1000 containers you will find that you can talk to staff easily and with a professional approach to business that you would expect from any major business in any part of the world.

Although Forward Logistics are based in Saudi Arabia and the United Kingdom, it's all too easy to forget that they can handle logistics in a global market and through a network of established, privately owned logistics companies, shipping to and from any continent is still only one phone call away. Already handling shipments into and out off mainland Europe, America, South Africa, other Middle Eastern Countries and the Far East, Forward Logistics are happy to help with any shipping requirement you may have.

