

LIVING IN RIYADH

Mike Tunstall is a name known to many RGBB members since he and his family were resident in Riyadh a few years ago. That simple statement should tell you that Mike has first hand knowledge of what an expat family living in Riyadh needs in their accommodation.

Now resident in the Eastern Province and managing the Real Estate Division for the Al Mutlaq Group, Mikes responsibilities extend to the Rabwa Compound here in Riyadh.

Operating with a strict western expat policy the facilities on the compound have been tailored to provide more than simply a place for the family to sleep. Two swimming pools, Two tennis courts, racketball and basketball courts, a separate childrens play area and a fully equipped gymnasium offer the more energetic somewhere to let off steam. Twenty channel satellite TV, a book and video library and a multi-purpose recreation room offer benefits to those more inclined towards the couch. An AFS managed mini mall is also located within the compound.

The villas themselves can be furnished to individual requirements from a range of good quality furniture. Permanent fittings such as bathroom equipment and kitchen units are of western style and quality.

Neighbours are often the key to a good life style anywhere and the evidence shows a good friendly atmosphere is the order of the day here. Prices vary between eighty and a hundred and ten thousand for furnished and unfurnished accommodation and occasional short lets may be considered.

RABWA COMPOUND - RIYADH

The location of Al Rabwa Compound, southside of Khorais highway just west of junction 13 on the airport expressway, allows easy access to all points of the city.

Tastefully appointed family villas together with high standards of service and a full compliment of facilities offer the western executive an excellent quality of life.

Only a few units are currently vacant. Interested parties should contact the resident representative, Brenda Lewis on telephone number: 493 1741 or the Head Office to arrange a mutually convenient time to view.
