

china!" - warning other men to stay away from his gorgeous girlfriend, who was dressed in a black and green flapper dress. Harry also showed his commitment by passionately kissing Chelsy on the dance floor - while her parents cheered them on.

During a speech by Chelsy's brother Shaun, the birthday girl's habit of making verbal gaffes was revealed. The headline in Entertainment News said Chelsy is as daft as a brush!

Until now, the couple have endured a long-distance relationship - with Chelsy, pictured left, studying in Cape Town and Harry training to be an Army officer with the Household Cavalry in the UK. However, Chelsy is planning on moving to Britain to be nearer to Harry, and she has accepted a place at Bristol University to study a postgraduate degree in politics.

Another 'heavenly body' in the news this week is Angelina Jolie, who has reportedly decided to cover up her body on screen - because she is a mother.

The 'Tomb Raider' actress - who has two adopted children, Maddox, five, and 19-month-old Zahara, and a biological daughter, Shiloh Nouvel, with partner Brad Pitt - apparently does not want to embarrass her children with any racy film scenes.

A source told Scotland's Daily Record newspaper: "There's an element of her not wanting or needing to go for the shock element on screen anymore, but mostly she doesn't want her children to have to deal with that kind of issue, especially when they get older."

It looks like Tom Cruise has taken a page out of the Brangelina book. The Mission Impossible star is rumored to be considering exactly what Brad Pitt and Angelina Jolie were thinking of doing: getting married at George Clooney's Italian villa. "It is believed Katie Holmes, 27, and Tom, 44, opted for an Italian wedding because it was in Rome where they confirmed their relationship with a very public kiss.

Hotest news of the day though is that as we go to press, newspapers around the world are carrying the news that Scary Spice is with child. Reports from America's entertainment hubs seem to suggest that the luuurve she apparently has for Eddie Murphy has materialised into a pregnancy. The story seems to be that she is four months pregnant with Eddie's baby. If this turns out to be true, it will be lucky number eight for Eddie and two for Mel B.

Meanwhile, her alleged babydaddy is reteaming with his "Norbit" director Brian Robbins for the upcoming DreamWorks comedy "Starship Dave," in which Murphy will play a human spacecraft carrying a crew of miniature, human-looking aliens who are seeking a way to save their doomed planet.

Shooting is scheduled to begin in March 2007, which comes one month after the release of Murphy's other Robbins-directed film "Norbit."

In another bit of film news, Natalie Portman and Scarlett Johansson are finally shooting The Other Boleyn Girl together in the UK. Scarlett made the news when she was thrown from a horse during filming
