John Evans

We were all sad to hear of John Evans sudden passing in June. Husband to Terry Evans, the Head of the British Trade Office in the Eastern Province, John was often called upon to assist at official functions and events. In the centre of the picture, John greets guests arriving for the Queens Birthday celebrations earlier this year.

Terry asked for contributions in lieu of flowers for the funeral and would like to thank all who contributed to the charity "Heartlink" - which raised over £2800 in memory of John. Heartlink is a registered charity working with Glenfield Hospital, Leicester, providing specialist equipment and support to family members of children born with heart defects.
